

Client Record Post Procedure Sensitive Areas

First Name _____ Last Name _____ Date _____

During a facial peel there will be areas that remain red or look irritated. This should be noted and tracked during multiple peel programs (3 - 6 peels over a set period of time). This record will allow you to keep track of areas that need special attention as you increase percentage and or lower pH. Your client's skin can and will be different every time you peel and precise records will help you assess the proper next step or areas that could be cause for concern.

Directions: Mark any way you like that will help you identify areas that need special attention. Best practice is to use a different color highlighter of your choosing for different skin issues you would like to track.
